GREAT EXPERIMENT DESIGNED TO GIVE JOBS TO THOUSANDS

PLAN OF ROOSEVELT WOULD LIFT CURSE OF UNEMPLOY-MENT FROM NATION

By FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Feb. 2.—(4)—A gigantic experiment designed to pro-vide 200,000 jobs and herald the birth of a new America from which the curse of unemployment would be lifted was proposed today by President-elect Roosevelt.

The rugged highlands and fertile industrial valley of the Tennessee watershed were chosen by the next president for this "most interesting experiment a government bas ever undertaken."

interesting experiment a government has ever undertaken."
Seated before the blazing fireplace of the "Little White House," he told newspapermen of his dream for a vast internal development encompassing reforestation, reclamation, water power and agricultural rehabilitation. The aim is to balance the national population anew between cities and the country.

Mr. Roosevelt expects this huge laboratory experiment to provide employment for 200,000 men in the Tennessee valley alone. More than this, he hopes to carry the scheme into other sections of the nation from Alleghenies to the Pacific coast and through it to re-establish American life on a basis that will mean the end of unemployment, the decentralization of industry and a people protected by the decentralization of industry and a people protected by the watchful eye of a government. The great Tennessee valley project involving half a dozen states is to include:

of additional guarantees of security.

Chancellor Hitler's spokesman asserted that the League of Nations covenant pledged the nations to progressive disarmament as the best means of maintaining peace and guaranteeing the security of all states. Since that covenant was adopted, he said, many other bulwarks of security have been constructed.

He made this statement in an address before the conference which resumed this morning with a discussion of the French dis-

GOVERNOR ASKED TO SUSPEND FARM FORECLOSURES NOW

HOUSE ASKS EXECUTIVE AS-SISTANCE UNTIL FARM RE-LIEF CAN BE PROVIDED

AUSTIN, Feb. 1.—(P)-The Texas house of representatives adopted a resolution today requesting the governor to ask for a suspension of farm mortgage preclosures until the legisture had an opportunity to relieve the debt-burdened farmers. Representative Joe Greathouse of Representative Joe Greathouse of Fort Worth, speaking in support of the resolution, said he believed the legislature had the power to postpone mortgage foreclosures notwithstanding the constitutional inhibition against interfering with contracts.

The resolution was introduced by Representative Nall Colson of Iola and G. W. Winningham of Mexia. Winningham said that the farmers in his district were being farmers in his district were being "closed out" and he predicted dire results if the present situation in Texas is allowed to continue. Greathouse asserted that unless the legislature stopped foreclos-ures, "we'll bring on a situation like they have in Iowa where they'll almost lynch a man who tries to foreclose on a farm."

"The day is going to come in Texas when the farm and home owners, and not the lobbyists sent to Austin by the corporations will dictate the policies of this state," Greathouse shouted.

The resolution set out that more than 42 per cent of the owneroperated farms in Texas operated farms in Texas were mortgaged. It said that the fore-closures last year amounted to $60,000,000 and that they would aggregate $100,000,000 this year unless some relief was afforded.

A declaration that unless the legislature acted immediately to prevent the taking of efficiency judgments against persons, whose property has been sold at forced sale, there would be a "bigger war sale, there would be a "bigger war in Texas than the Iowa farm war" was made by Representative Harlee Morrison of Terrel, in asking the house to consider hils bill to revise the deficiency judgment law.

The house refused to take up the bill laying it on the table subject to call to allow the judicalry committee to work out a consolidated bill providing for mortgaged property relief.

An attack was made on the bill on the ground it was unconstitutional.

"They bellow constitutionality at you every time you try to do something for the poor devil who is being pitched into the gutter," Morrison stated. "If we don't do something to prevent the taking of deficiency judgments we will be the forerunner of similar, projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be the forerunner of similar, projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be the forerunner of similar, projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be the forerunner of similar, projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be the forerunner of similar, projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be the forerunner of similar, projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be forerunner of similar, projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be forerunner of similar, projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be forerunner of similar, projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be forerunner of similar projects in other sections, particular-think this development will be forerunner of similar projects in other sections, and of the commissioner.

York said authorities expected to solve a dozen bank robberies if they can apprehend the two women, who, he asserted were the Tennesse: valley experiment.

He said he selected the Tennessee watershed running over the states of Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina and parts of Kentucky, Alabama, and Mississippi for many reasons principally because women, who, he asserted were the ones that planned the robberies and assisted their male confederates in carrying them out. He said they scouted the banks. Information gathered by the women was given to the men, who, heavily armed, looted the banks and later picked up the women. York said the women usually drove the "getaway" cars and arranged for dispusal of loot. They were the ones who changed large bank notes into money that could be handled mere casily. could be handled mere easily.

Here's Why We Recommend Wolverine Shell Horsehides!

They Stay Soft... and Outwear Ordinary Work Shoes

YOU'VE probably seen the advertisements of these famous Wolverine Shell Horsehide Work Shoes in your farm paper. Everything the Wolverine people say about them is absolute fact. They do wear longer and give greater comfort. One customer after another tells us so.

The picture above explains why Wolverine uses only the one-sixth of a horse's hide around the hips that contain a shell. And in resistance to wear, it compares with

THE SOPHISTICATED FACE

THE WELL-DRESSED FACE

Do you want to have that nicely polished look worn by the best dressed and most fachionable women this year? Miss Forbes tells you what to do to achieve that look.

The other day I was reading a short story by the late Arnoid Bennett, in which he mentions that the heroine, having a perfect skin, concealed it with powder and rouge, and having perfect nails, covered them with a brilliant enamel. Which is all right for heroines in fiction—they must have 'perfect complexions or one doesn't want them for heroines. But what novelist has written of a character who, having an imperfect skin, had concealed its blemishes with makeup, and given her face a brilliance of tone and color (not rouge, color in its best sense) with foundation cream and the proper blend of powder? Or used bright tint on her nails to show off their perfection, or perhaps, to trick the casual observer into thinking them perfect here is so much oil and other Treatments.

General purposes, and the rest of it an astringent cream. To do this easily after blending the oil and waxes with heat, make an equal division of them, as ingulative in the quantity of rose water, and take away 20 drops from one and plut it into the other, after which add 20 drops of tincture of benzing the oils and liquids together. Add the perfume be drying to the skin although any be drying to the skin although any extingent cream. and then to show off the perfection under a thin artificial coating. Of course no eyebrows grow as those a beauty shop trims! But how much nicer the trimmed ones look, if nicely trimmed! Nails are not so vividly pink—but how well they look when the manicurist has finished!

When you dress up, use a good, and mildly antiseptic foundation cream, and then a rich powder. A hint of rouge, and a touch of color on your lips. Vaseline on your eyebrows. When you go out for the evening, use a liquid powder on your shoulders, arms and neck. It gives your skin that satiny appearance which may not be natural, but is awfully becoming, just the same. Then a cream to make the hands, smooth and a brilliant polish with a flash of color for the nails. Why not All these things help to make you stand out as attractive, in any errowd of women.

Yet, what would we look like if we went about these days without some makeup The thing these days is to be perfect underneath, and then to show off the perfection under a thin artificial coating. Of course no eyebrows grow as Charter of Freedom for Personality Given By Jesus---In the Light of Present Problems---Organizing the Kingdom Cause by Calling the Twelve.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

All real reform of organized human life waits upon a changed attitude toward people—toward people in the mass and people as individuals. Up until now society has been controlled by the idea of the subjection of the many to the advantage of the few. Tallyrand cynically said, "There are only two classes of people; the shearers and the shorn."

Once I was sailing from Chefooto Tientsin, in a ship hideously overcrowded with Chinese laboriers. During the night a heavy storm arose, sweeping the decks where the coolies were herded by hundreds. From the cries that penetrated to my cabin, I feared that many were swept overboard. So next morning I inqpired of the English captain, an old China hand. He shrugged his shoulders in a festure of indifference, saying, "What are a few Chinks, more or less?"

That attitude toward people has prevailed throughout the ages, hav-

That attitude toward people has prevailed throughout the ages, having its latest dramatic exemplification, perhaps in the cynicism of the international bankers toward the investing public whom they had ruined. It is the attitude of "big business" of grafting politicians, of aristocracy, of special privilege.

Much of the social blight of the ages is due to this spirit of selfish arrogance. Directly opposing it, and cutting athwart all of its implications, was the sensible and sound teaching of Jesus. He cared for the common crowd. All the commanded His sympathy and service. He spent Himself to the point of exhaustion in healing them. His whole life philosophy was summed up in the words "The Son of man is come not to be ministered unto, but to minister." There you have the characteristic picture of Jesus. He entered into every mortal need, a sharer of the sufferings of all mankind. Thus he has become the leader of the peaceful revolution which is today asserting the rights of the multitude, and chroning the sovereignty of spicts. The serving, suffering Saloms of the recent Laymen's Appraisal of Missions is its criticism of the majority of missionare, as commonplace and ordinary. The report wants missions tatifed by highbrows. Into this succinct statement of Into this succinct statement of Reporter Mark we must read the unwritten story of what journey meant to each member of the multitude—the long, hard travel afoot from every direction, with the expedients that had been used by the poor people to reach the presence of the Healer. The lame had to be aided; and the helpless had to be borne; the blind had to be led; the wack and discouraged had to be heartened. Here is opportunity for the legitimate use of imagination in the imate use of imagination in the filling out of the recorded de-tails. All the world had gone after this hero of His day, this, supreme exponent of the rights of who's Afraid of Technocracy? If space permitted, this be an appropriate point to muse upon the sacredness of human personality as crowned by Jesus, His aristocratic foes, the Pharisees, looked upon the multitude as "accursed". Not so Jesus, With the Psalmist, He knew that man had been created "a little lower than God. A poetic commentator caught the spirit of Him who is author lawrest than Padagan. sacredness of human in the largest sense the Redeemer of humanity, when he wrote, "Man is one world, and has another to attend him." Modern highbrowism tends to belittle man highbrowism tends to belittle man As one of our contemporray cynics observed, "Astronomically speaking, man is almost totally negligible." Whereupon Prof. Coertorted "Astronomically speaking, man is'—the astronomer." In the view of Jesus, man, common man, was worthy of the uttermost expenditure of His life.

Our fear-filled day needs to recover this sense of the sacredness of human personality which ness of human personality which Jesus stressed. Just now, myriads of folk have been scared by this new bugaboo called "Technoc-racy," which pictures the over-flow of civilization and the triumph of the machine. It is a time to remember that machines are only machines and that men are men, able if need be, to scrap all the appliances they have ever invented. If Jesus were here in the flesh today He would not be heard discussing "technocracy" or any other economic scheme; He would be busy healing the sick, heartening the discouraged, feed-ing the hungry, and holding aloft the exalting truth of the Kingdom of God, wherein the law is love. and the humblest are the great-

Relieved By Taking Cardui

"I was weak and run-down and suffered quite a bit with pains in my side," writes Mrs. Nick Barranco, of Beaumont, Texas. "I was nervous. I did not rest well at night, and my appetite was poor.

"My mother had used Cardui with beneficial result, so I decided to take it. I surely am glad I did, for it stopped the pain in my side and built up my general health,

I took seven bottles in all." Cardui is sold at all drug stores. Mr. and Mrs. Ring To Leave Corsicana Pain is neither intolerable nor everlasting, if thou bearest in mind that it has its limits, and f thou addest nothing to it in imagination—Marcus Aurelius.

Thou shalt call his name Jesus: for He shall save His people from their sins—Matt. 1:21.

Life is mostly froth and bubble Two things stand like stone— Kindness in another's trouble, Courage in your own—Anon.

Quiet minds cannot be perplexed or frightened, but go on in for-tune or misfortune at their own private pace like a clock in a thunder storm.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

HENRY FORD SAYS THESE TIMES GOOD AND TO BE BETTER

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—(P)—The New York Times published today under a Detroit date line a copy-righted interview with Henry Ford, in which the automobile manufacturer declared these were manufacturer declared these were not bad times, but good ones, and that we were on the threshold of an inconceivably bright future. While the Ford plants lay idle because of the strike in the Briggs Company's factories, Ford gave an interview at Detroit to the Times representative Hareld N

Denny.

He said that it was the development of machines which would bring the bright new era and he smilingly dismissed technocracy. "Technocracy seems to me mis-named," he said, "I see little ev-idence of technical experience in it. Its diagnosis of present condi-tions is partly correct but when it. Its diagnosis of present condi-tions is partly correct, but when it assumes that present condi-tions are permanent, when it for-gets the fluid and progressive lements in life, it simply goes on

Times representative, Harold N.

"The machine age is barely started now. In the real machine age which is to come the dirt and ugliness and confusion and noise and disregard of human right which are all about us will be which are all about us will be quick results.
